Efficiency values as a function of number of threads